KLRU

SEASON 27

FROM THE PRODUCER

July 24, 2001

Austin City Limits Home of the Jam Bands! It all began with Phish a year ago, then Widespread Panic came rolling through on Halloween night. Now String Cheese Incident!

I saw SCI at The Backyard when they played there over Easter weekend, and the whole scene was cool. There were kids, families, teens, college students, freaks and mostly real music fans of all ages. The crowd was mellow and the music was hot. The band sold out three nights in a row - over 9,000 tickets, an all-time record for The Backyard.

The whole jam band thing is phenomenal. There's a Web site (www.jambands.com) and a magazine (Relix). And what other music show on TV is gonna give a band the whole hour to stretch out and be themselves? That's what Austin City Limits is all about. This is probably the first time for a lot of you, but we've been doing hundreds of cool shows for the last 27 years. Check us out on the tube - especially this weekend. We're repeating the Widespread Panic show Friday night at 11 p.m., then Phish on Saturday at 7 p.m. on KLRU, channel 18, Austin cable channel 9. Tonight's show will air in November.

Come visit our web site at www.gha.org/austin and let me know what you thought of tonight's show. While you're at it, let me know if there's some other band that you'd like to see on Austin City Limits in the future!
